A SECRET SIN.

BY A. M. BELLERBY.

CHAPTER IV.

TURNING obstinately deaf ears to the representation of my mother and Rob, I determined to go immediately after the funeral to Linden court, the pretty estate my husband had so recently bought. They tried to make me go home, they tried to come with me, they said that Linden court might lapse to the crown.

"I don't care," I answered, utterly regardless how disagreeable I made myself. "I want to be alone; and, considering how dearly I have bought my independence and everything else, I absolutely mean to have my own way."

So I had it, and went down by myself to Linden court, feeling my hard heart soften within me as I noticed how William Repton, in furnishing it, had remembered every whim and fancy of mine.

There was but one old thing in the house, a bureau of venerable but somewhat shaky appearance, which found a place in the library, looking shabby and out of place amid its modern surroundings.

One wet day, which put a stop to my lonely exploration of the beauties surrounding Linden court, it occurred to me to turn out this bureau. The keys were thrown carelessly into a drawer, which seemed to argue that there was nothing particularly private in its contents.

There were a few photographs, some of popular actresses, others of people I knew nothing about. He had no relatives living so far as I had ever heard. They were none of my business nor any one's else now. I did not feel I had right or cause to open them, and restored them to their place.

In a secret drawer were other letters in faded ink, written on paper yellow with age, the records of an earlier generation; and amongst them were one or two miniatures, which I looked at with interest, then restored to their places in the bureau, and opened another drawer.

More of the dead man's letters! I began to get weary of my aimless search, and was about to replace them, when a separate envelope of peculiar size and shape slipped out from among them, and written on it my eyes caught the words:

"The last will and testament of me, William Repton," etc.

Hardly knowing what I was about, I broke the seal and feverishly examined the contents. It was informally drawn up, but to my ignorance, at least, seemed duly signed and attested by witnesses. Moreover, it was dated three years ago, before he had even met me, and it left all his real and personal effects to a distant cousin, of whom I had never so much as heard him speak—Godfrey Henry Cooper Knight.

I immediately remembered having seen this name written on one of the photographs, and turned to look among them again. Yes, there it was, the photo of a young and handsome man, with an autograph written in unusually clear characters. There was no mistaking Godfrey Henry Cooper Knight.

There had been some search made for a will, but the lawyer was quite certain his client had never made one. He had urged him to do so on his approaching marriage, he said; but Mr. Repton had answered that when he returned from his honeymoon it would be ample time, and he had objected to a marriage settlement.

I remembered all this now, while the conviction flashed across me that if the will I held in my hand were valid, all I had gone through would be in vain, and that instead of possessing half my dead husband's great wealth for the benefit of myself and my family, it would all go to this far-off and unknown cousin, Godfrey Knight.

that the jewels he had showered on me were alone worth thousands of pounds. I thought only of my mother's weak distress if the news reached her, of the difference it would make to the children's future.

"It would not be right, it would not be just!" I said passionately. "This was made before he knew me. He would wish me to have it, he loved me so. This will may be law, but it is not justice!"

I rose. I would not wait to hesitate nor think; but, taking both will and photograph, walked to the fire and watched consume and shrivel into the thin, useless ghosts of themselves.

Then I went back, locked the bureau, and threw the keys into the drawer whence I had taken them. But in the hour my secret sin was accomplished, retribution began.

I had secured wealth for my family and myself, but in securing it I had given power over myself to the torments of conscience.

I passed a wretched night, troubled by dreams in which I enacted the destruction of the will again and again, and was detected either by the coming to life of William Repton or by Godfrey Henry Cooper Knight, whose handsome face gave me no peace.

Even morning brought me no rest, and as soon as I had made a pretence of eating some breakfast I went again to the library, where I had ordered the fire to be already lit, driven by a new fear with which the dawn had scourged me, to see if amongst all those letters in the bureau mention might have been made of that will.

My conscience already made me a coward, for now I locked the door, and found myself glancing up, now and again, at the windows, fearing lest I should be watched. Two boys outside were mowing the lawn, and every time the whir of the machine came near I started like the guilty thing I was, and hardened myself against the feeling that only a few short hours ago had made me scruple to read the letters written to my dead husband; and all the while, though I could see nothing, a haunted feeling of being observed tormented me.

Better for me, better for the sacred memory of the dead, if those scruples had remained. In spite of my own sin, that glimpse into the private correspondence of the man who had married me taught me only too surely that my girlish instinct had been true, that to that man and his intimates life was a thing of pleasure and commerce; that nothing was worth having that money could not buy. Life to them was without elevation at refinement; self-indulgence was all in all.

In neither of them, however, was any mention of the will I had destroyed—not although two or three were signed G. H. C. Knight—not although the tenor of these showed that young man had evidently got into some wild scrape, for which he had had to pay a pretty heavy penalty. But that was long before—the last of the letters was seven years old.

Just as I was finishing my examination, which took nearly all the morning, the sound of carriage wheels on the drive made me hastily replace all the letters, throw the keys into the drawer, unlock the door, and settle myself in a chair with the first volume at hand, just before a servant came to announce that Miss Hurst had called to see me.

Fresh from my wrong doing, she was perhaps the very last person in the world I desired to see; but I nerved myself to meet her, and talked on indifferent topics for quite half an hour.

She was staying with some friends in the neighborhood, she said, and had taken the liberty of driving round to see how I was.

Not very cordially I asked her to stay to luncheon; but she declined on the plea that she had to interview a young lady, since she was in search of a companion. "For I am getting up in years, my dear," she said, with her sweet voice, "and am needing fresh hands and feet and brains to supplement mine."

Then she rose to say good by, and, holding my hand in hers, said:

"Your emancipation has not meant happiness, to judge from your looks. Are you not lonely by yourself? Too much solitude is not good for any one."

"There is no such thing as happiness," I said vehemently. "All life is a mirage and a delusion." "No, my dear, it is not," she said firmly. "I have lived to three times your age, and amidst many sore troubles have known much happiness. You have not yet learned where to look for it."

So she went away, leaving me more miserable than ever. In the afternoon the weather cleared, and I started for a walk, but the beauty of the spring that had been so sweet to me the day before was robbed of all its loveliness.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get any thing to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet; eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles.

Humphrey was from Carter county, Tennessee, and went to Texas years ago and amassed a fortune. Holden Humphrey left last week for Texas to see about the estate.

Baltimore, Md., March 30, 1902.
Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the bad noise would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain

HAZEL GREEN, KY.
THURSDAY, February 20, 1902.

ELSEWHERE will be found the time card of the Ohio & Kentucky railroad. The company has recently built a nice depot at Helechawa, our nearest station, where a polite and courteous agent will give all desired information as to rates, etc. An express office will be established there, also, at once, and in a little while, just as soon as the postoffice department at Washington acts in the matter, our mail will go and come by way of Helechawa. Supt. Conley writes us that if the business will justify the people of Hazel Green can depend on the best accommodations the company can offer as soon as the weather conditions will permit getting the line in better shape. With the opening of spring much better accommodations will be offered patrons of the road, and people going to Lexington or intermediate points should avail of this route. In the matter of freights the agent at Helechawa should be consulted. An express office at that place will be a great thing for this place, and now for closer connection by a five mile trolley line.

IGNORANCE of American affairs is the natural and expected thing among English newspaper writers, but the limit would seem to have been reached when one of them—a contributor to the London Saturday Review—refers to Senator Teller as "Mr. Senator Teller, of the U. S. house of elected lords."

The republican members of the senate Philippine committee are trying to make that investigation of Philippine affairs a bouquet-throwing match, but the democrats of the committee insist upon tossing in a few ugly facts whenever they get the opportunity.

It took the republicans of the house ways and means committee a whole year to catch up with the democratic procession—the repeal of the whole bunch of war taxes—and now they have the nerve to claim the bill for repeal as a party measure.

THE Georgia gubernatorial race, in which the democratic nomination is equivalent to election, has been simplified by the withdrawal of Hon. J. Pope Brown, state railroad commissioner.

VERY surprising, isn't it, that Gov. Taft should have nothing but good words for the government over which he presides. The devil would doubtless testify that hades was a pleasant place.

SPEAKER HENDERSON has been acting as though he would just as soon fight Mr. Roosevelt—perhaps a little sooner—as obey him. He has received the order, but he has not obeyed it.

REPUBLICAN senators are threatening to kill the bill for the repeal of the war taxes. Let them do so if they dare. Nothing would more certainly elect a democratic majority of the next house.

THE trial of the Cuban postal thieves is quite as slow as the proceedings for getting them to trial were.

THE haste of some of Mr. Roosevelt's friends in declaring that this government would not aid Holland in trying to end the Boer war was suspiciously like a tip to him.

DEMOCRATS would ask nothing better than that the votes of republican senators be cast for that proposed salary-grab of $2,500 a year for senators and representatives.

EX-SENATOR GAGE doubtless wishes he had one of those $100,000 salaries which newspapers of saffron tint are making him decline two or three times a week.

"JOE" MANLEY is solid with the Washington correspondents, if not with Mr. Roosevelt as they are "mentioning" him for secretary of commerce and labor.

It is dollars to doughnuts that Mr. Roosevelt does not select a laboring man or a merchant for secretary of the department of commerce and labor.

ST. LOUIS has indicted officials as well as a prospective world's fair on its hands. Some old cause—street railway franchises.

THE biggest things of the season are the Schley ovals, but Mr. Roosevelt doesn't appear to have heard of them.

Crime in Breathitt.

On the night of the 11th inst., some unknown parties broke into the store-house of Landrum Bros. on Troublesome creek, Breathitt county, and carried away some 250 or 275 pounds of bacon, belonging to this firm, and concealed same in the woods about a mile away. On the following morning Mize Landrum, one of the members of the above named firm, went to Jackson and secured a search warrant for the stolen property and a state's warrant for the suspected parties and had Flint Davis appointed special bailiff by the sheriff, to execute each of the warrants, and bring them to justice. Bailiff Davis summoned a posse of citizens, and on the night of the 6th, the day on which the goods were recovered, went to guard the spot where the meat was found, placing themselves close around the point. In a short time after dark two men came walking up to the place where the bacon had been found. Bailiff Davis demanded their surrender; and about that time one of the two men fired on Davis, and he and posse returned the fire. A general fight ensued in which one of the intruders, Hiram Miller, was left dead upon the scene, and Ruby Landrum, one of the Landrum Brothers, was mortally wounded, dying the following day; and the other thief made his escape, after being fired at several times. Suspicion fell on Thos. Combs, who was arrested and remanded to jail without bail after the preliminary hearing before Judge Hargis, charged with robbery and murder.

THE SOUTH'S LITERARY WEEKLY
Published at Atlanta, Ga.—Circulation Over 50,000.

The SUNNY SOUTH is the Great Literary Weekly of the South. It is devoted to Literature, Romance, Fact and Fiction, and gives the best of all that is current in the field. Among its contributors the most noted southern writers appear—Joel Chandler Harris, Harry Stillwell Edwards and others of growing fame. Serial stories from Anthony Hope, Maurice Thompson, Edgar R. Crockett, Mrs. George Corbett and Arthur W. Marchmont have appeared, and others are in waiting from the pen of authors of national note. A short story contest brought out nearly five hundred splendid stories, all worthy a place in THE SUNNY SOUTH's readable columns. Other contests are contemplated that will successfully exploit the ripening field of talent that only needs such fostering to illustrate the wealth that is shy to assert itself.

The SUNNY SOUTH teams with the life of the great South. The general sunshine warms everything into activity, and the season is never cold enough to check the hand of industry. The paper comes fragrant with the breath of the magnolia and pine, and gives out the very air of the orange, palm and bay. The beauty and pathos, the romance and mystery of the land where the corn stores up the golden sunshine and the cotton whitens in the moonlight, will be given in the best-drawn columns of this fascinating weekly.

The subscription price is Only Fifty Cents a year, alike to all persons, agents, newspapers, postmasters and every one else. Clubs of five, accompanied by the full $2.50, entitle the club to the paper one year gratis.

Send on a Postal Card the names of six of your neighbors who would appreciate the opportunity to read a copy of The Sunny South, and one sample will be mailed free. You can get your club of five out of these very people.

The SUNNY SOUTH enters over 20,000 American homes now; and during 1902 is sure to be welcomed in fully as many more homes, as the great weekly feast of good things, the Southern Literary Weekly, whose columns for 1902 will be the most readable of all the papers that come to you.

THE HERALD.

CREATED BY THE WEEKLY

Willie Cox of near Ezel was the guest of John Pieratt on Monday.

Milt Pieratt of near Maytown paid Hazel Green a flying visit on Monday.

Clay Cecil on Tuesday took his gray mare to Mt. Sterling and sold her for $110.

Kelly Murphy from Blackwater came to town on Monday with ten mules to sell.

Clark Long paid a flying trip to Dr. Geovison on Grassy from Friday to Sunday.

W. T. Swango of Millersburg was here last week shaking hands with his old friends.

Miss Cora Combs of Morehead is visiting her sister, Mrs. Quint Daniel and family.

Miss Laura Wilson of Gillmore is visiting Mrs. Dick Russell and other friends here.

The auction sale of John Henry's goods brought a big crowd to Hazel Green on Tuesday and Wednesday.

A telephone message summoning Dr. Center to Neola yesterday stated that Mrs. James Wilson was quite ill.

John H. Rose was too sick on Tuesday to be in his shop, and has been suffering an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Virgie James is suffering from a fractured jawbone, the result of having three or four teeth pulled.

Harry Cecil and sister Lilly of Grassy are visiting Charley Cecil and family and other relatives and friends here.

Dr. Nickell was called to Lee City Sunday to see Mrs. Kelly Rose, who was suffering with pharyngitis.

Miss Flora Blankenship returned home on Thursday after a week's visit at John Barker's on Lacy creek.

Mine hostess, Mrs. Lou Day, has the thanks of the editor and better seven-eighths for a mess of pickled beans.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McIn have the thanks of the editor and better seven-eighths for a nice mess of choice beefsteak.

Tommy Daniel, who has charge of the Combs-Manker mill at West Liberty, is visiting his father, Quint Daniel and family.

Willie Kash was defendant in the case of the commonwealth against Sarah Harris, and made a strong appeal for his client.

Dave Linden of Gillmore is nursing a lame leg, the result of a horse falling upon him while he was rounding up some cattle.

THE BEST should be your aim when buying medicine. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and have the best medicine MONEY CAN BUY.

There were seven cases docketed in Judge Pieratt's court on the 10th, every one of which he disposed to the satisfaction of the public.

Remember to make your offerings for Foreign Missions and State Missions on Sunday, March 2nd. You can not afford to fail on this.

Willie Kash left Sunday for some point in Missouri which we have so far failed to learn. John M. Rose accompanied him as far as Mt. Sterling.

A series of meetings will begin at Consolation Sunday night next, conducted by Dr. Center and Rev. Barney Blankenship. All are invited to be present.

Squire John D. Rose returned Monday from a visit to his brother Bob, who now lives at Howard's creek, in Breathitt, and says he is very low with consumption.

Rolly Cecil, a son of Joe Cecil, who recently bought Jim Cecil's farm on Blackwater, is here visiting relatives and friends. He will make a crop on the farm this year, and his father will remain in Virginia until fall, when he will take possession of his Morgan county property.

Death of Dr. Jason Cox.

A dispatch from Mt. Sterling to the Louisville Evening Post, under date of the 13th inst., says news had just reached there of the death of Dr. Jason Cox, at his home in Wolfe county. Dr. Cox lived in Rowan county, where he had been practicing medicine for years. Semi-annually or annually he visited his son, Dr. Brock Cox, who lives in the west end of this county, and it was during his last visit that the end came. In passing he always stopped and had a chat with us, but when he passed the last time we were out in town and he left word that he would stop and see us as he passed back. That has been about two months ago. Dr. Cox was a remarkably vigorous man, and practiced his profession right up to the last visit we speak of. He had in his possession papers that showed him to be 107 years old, but he was as active as many at 50. He was a very interesting conversationalist, and could hold one spell bound for hours in listening to a relation of his experience. Some eight years since we met him for the first time, and afterward he never failed to stop and talk for an hour or so. Peace to his ashes.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Williams

Joe Garver of Bushon, Ill., was here recently and bought 20 head of good work mules from farmers of this district for a total of $2,215.50; average $110.75. The price paid for each pair was considered very good; satisfied the sellers and the buyer has a chance of making a handsome profit, as all the animals are ready for service as soon as they reach their destination. The price of these mules here would have been much higher, 25 per cent at least, were the demand as great as in the section for which he bought them. Here they were not employed half the time—there they will be needed every week day. Here they had to be fed work or no work; there they will earn their feed and make their owner a good profit beside.

Within a month or so we have heard people talking of the wonderful trade that Robt. Kash of McCausey is getting, and our first thought of course was that his ad. in THE HERALD had much to do with it. But while that accounts for it in part, his prices and his courteous treatment of customers has a great deal to do with it, also. He sells for cash, and on two articles alone—flour and salt—he has built up a very handsome trade. In fact he is "it" when it comes to buying either of these staple commodities, and people who are posted as to their best interests buy from him without question—not only salt and flour but all other goods they need. "Bully for Bob," is the expression of his friends everywhere.

The new county attorney, C. C. Fulks, was here Tuesday week to prosecute Mrs. Sarah Harris, who was arraigned in Judge Pieratt's court on that day on the charge of unlawfully selling whiskey in three cases—one of them to a minor. In the latter case the lowest penalty is $50 and costs and in the other two cases $20.00 in each was the lowest limit. As this was the first time for them to come before his honor, Judge Pieratt let her off with the lowest penalty in first two cases, and she beat the other case by swearing that the prosecuting witness was not in her house.

Since taking charge of the Day House again Mrs. Lou Day has exerted every effort to bring it back to its wonted prestige. And to this end she supervises the culinary department in person, and says that all who give her their patronage will find the table the best in the mountains. Her aim will be to make every guest enjoy home comforts while sojourning with her, and those who know her know that she will do so.

"To Throw Good Money After Bad will but increase my pain." If you have thrown away money for medicines that did not cure, now begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the medicine that never disappoints.

Cap. Day of Morgan county has been a guest of the Day House for some time, under treatment of Dr. Center for epilepsy or similar trouble. Prior to Jan. 1, last, he had an attack of this every ten days, but thanks to Dr. Center's treatment he has so far escaped anything of the kind this year. Two weeks used to be the limit, and he feels encouraged now that he will be effectually cured.

Joe Long, the most noted moonshiner that ever operated in the mountains, and Miss Louellen Caskey, daughter of Tom Caskey, were married at the residence of the bride's parents on Sunday, 9th inst., and left on a honeymoon tour confined only to the globe.

Modern Missions.

The growing missionary interest in the Christian church, or Disciples of Christ, all over the country, reminds us all again of the wonderful power of the missionary movement. Now every nation on earth is wide open to the gospel. Not so a century ago.

The Christian church has missions in India, China, Japan, Africa, Turkey, England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippine Islands. They have 271 missionaries and stations in those fields. Growing educational institutions are springing up, also, in those lands. Some of the strongest men in this religious body have gone out to Japan and China and other heathen lands. They are helping to shape a new Christian civilization on the ruins of hoary faiths. In Japan, for instance, there is now a public school system that will compare with our own in America. The Imperial University in Tokio has more than 2,000 students. The postal system of Japan is pronounced as good as in America; the telegraph wire stretches to every part of the land. All this and more has been done since the advent of the missionary, less than fifty years ago.

The annual offering for Foreign Missions in all the churches of this community is the first Sunday in March. The church in this place is willing, and it may be counted upon to do its full part. It is expected that fully $200,000 will be raised for this work this year. Last year $171,000 was secured for work in distant lands.

The Christian church has come to be one of the leading religious bodies in the country. They number more than a million, and their growth last year is said to have been about 50,000. The number of churches is over 10,000, and the number of ministers fully 8,000. They are also building up a number of splendid educational institutions in different parts of the country.

We wish for them abundant success in their effort to raise $200,000 this year to spread the gospel in all the world.

Embroidery for Gowns.

Now that a gown, especially a handsome one, is not considered properly finished unless there is some hand embroidery about it, the amateur will be glad to have some help in the matter. Revers, collars and cuffs, edges of short jackets, bands on skirts and waists, panels and trimmings on skirts are some of the ways in which the work is utilized. Silk is used for embroidery on woollens, satin or silk goods and wash silk or linen thread on cottons. A number of pretty stitches are illustrated in the March Delineator, which are well within the reach of the amateur.

For Constipation

Take Lyon's Laxative Syrup: If you don't like it better than any laxative you have ever used, your druggist will refund the money. Price 25c. Sold by J. C. Stamper, Grassy Creek.

Eliza James left on the 11th for Bushon, Ill., which place he will make his future home. THE HERALD having already introduced him it will not be necessary to do so again, but the people about and in his new home are assured that he is worthy their confidence.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Dr. Center's Sick List.

Dr. Center reports Uncle Davy Rose of Stillwater as seriously ill.

The wife of Doc Sterling, a daughter of Ira Wells, has puerperal septisemia, and there is scarcely any hope for her.

A little daughter of Sherman Shackelford's in the Sarvis bend died on Sunday night at 10 o'clock. She was seized with a paroxysmal pain in stomach and bowels, of the nature of cramp, which continued with great violence until Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, when she became easy as suddenly as seized and without treatment, growing cold and pulseless from time pain ceased. She remained thus, in spite of all treatment until death. But she retained her appearance and mind until breath left her.

Card of Thanks.

ED. HERALD: Permit us through the medium of your paper to return our heartfelt thanks to the good people of Hazel Green who so kindly ministered to our dear old father, Jefferson Stamper, during his last illness, and to the young people especially, who are indebted for service in sitting up and other favors. May they in old age, should they find affliction at the last meet with as kind treatment is the best wish we could make for them, and again thanking them, we are, very gratefully, MR. AND MRS. W. T. CASKEY.

Mort Pieratt, a son of Milt Pieratt of Maytown, was driving a team of horses for a man named Holt at Glencair, pitting logs over the cliff, and last week a log got the start in some way and carried both horses over, killing them instantly. The value of the horses is not known, but as they had been engaged in same work sometime it is supposed they were worth $100 or $150.

The old Uncle Billy Rothwell homestead at Rothwell station was burned to the ground on Tuesday night. They saved some of the household effects, but the other was a complete loss as there was no insurance. For years past this was a wayside inn that rejoiced the heart of many a wayfarer with its homelike comforts, and they will regret to hear of its destruction.

Crockett Pack and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Pack's brother, Sydney Bishop, Alonzo Craft and Oliver Rasmic, left on Monday morning for Arcola, Ill. Mr. Pack and wife have rented a farm near that place, and the young men went along for company, with the view of seeking work in the vicinity, which they are almost sure to secure.

Robt. M. Hopkins, State Sunday School Evangelist, will hold a Sunday School Bible Institute at this place on March 18th, 19th, 20th, &c. Many who heard him last year want to hear him again; and we are sure he will be received with much enthusiasm.

The Y. P. S. C. E. which meets each Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, is growing in interest. Many of the young people are enthusiastic in the work; and much good is surely being accomplished.

Breathitt News.

Work on construction of a narrow gauge rail road from near Jackson to Big Frozen is being rapidly pushed notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather.

The road is to run along the top Pan Handle, a place where the Kentucky river after having run nearly seven miles comes back within sixty-feet of itself. It looks very strange to see a railway under construction along this narrow neck which has for many years been a resort for sight seers. But Breathitt county, with so many undeveloped resources, with limitless fields of coal, with almost boundless areas of virgin forests, may be expected at any time to furnish a wonder or marvel in the way of material development. Jackson, the county seat is truly an enterprising growing city; there is a telephone exchange with liberal patronage, and good prospect for electric street lights in the near future, a busy hum of mills, and a general upward move in the condition of affairs. There is a good school here with an able faculty and full enrollment, two churches—one Presbyterian and one Methodist—each of which has a good attendance every Sunday.

Tom Combs was held to answer at circuit court as accessory in the murder of Rube Landrum on the night of the 9th inst. Combs in company with Hiram Miller were on their way to get some meat, as it is claimed, which they had stolen, and Landrum with an officer and some men were watching for him with the intention of making an arrest. Miller fired on the officer and shot Landrum from which wound he died the next day. Miller was shot in several places, but he lived until next day.

It seems that killing is taking the lead in this county, and it is hard to tell where or when or how it will be stopped. MACK FRYE.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspaper is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century, discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. Trial bottles are sent free, regular fifty cent and dollar size are sold by all good druggists.

From Ear to Ear.

W. R. Jones, a brakeman of the Cincinnati Southern, while standing on a moving box car at Danville, Ky., on the 5th inst., was struck by a telephone wire that had sagged. Seven of his teeth were knocked out and his mouth was split back to the ears. Jones grasped the wire in both hands, and when the train had moved from under he was hanging in mid-air. Section men rescued him. He is in a serious condition.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

THE SUNNY SOUTH.

This Great Literary Journal Club—led With The Herald.

We publish, elsewhere today the announcement of the SUNNY SOUTH, the great weekly literary periodical of the Southern States. Published in Atlanta, Ga., in the heart of the great south, it bears upon it the impress of its birth-place and environment. For more than 25 years the SUNNY SOUTH has been a recognized factor in the field of southern literature. It was established more than a quarter of a century ago as a southern story paper, and was published for a long time as a weekly and then as a monthly.

About one year ago the paper passed under new management, and in less than a year it has jumped from a circulation of 12,000 to 60,000. The first thing the new management did was to make it a weekly publication and to reduce the price to fifty cents per year—less than one cent an issue—and then infuse into its columns all the enterprise and literary ability that money could command or determination secure. In less than a year this remarkable southern literary paper has become national in character and it now has about as many subscribers north of Mason and Dixon's line as it has in the south. Its columns abound in the best current literature of characteristic southern flavor, and no literary periodical published anywhere in the country has succeeded in bringing together as many southern writers of note as has been done by the SUNNY SOUTH.

A striking feature of the SUNNY SOUTH's development is its introduction during the past year of many new story writers who will be heard from in the wider field of the world's literature. In almost every southern state new literary talent has been developed to such an extent as to put the whole country to talking about the SUNNY SOUTH. A few months ago the SUNNY SOUTH offered very handsome prizes for a series of the best short stories by southern writers, and more than five hundred responses were received. Some of the stories then published in the SUNNY SOUTH have been reproduced the world over. Others are now being published by it from week to week.

The fact that the price of this splendid weekly literary periodical is only fifty cents a year has had a wonderful effect in giving it an extensive field for the development of its plans and purposes. Perhaps no literary periodical ever established has made such rapid stride as the SUNNY SOUTH in less than a year.

Mrs. Mary E. Brayan, whose name has long been associated with the SUNNY SOUTH, has been engaged to take full charge of its Woman's Department. Her services will appear especially to women readers throughout the country, as the striking charm of her own personality pervades every column of her most interesting department.

The distinctive characteristics of southern authors have always been a great charm to their readers. The liberal use of matter by the leading magazines of the United States shows that high regard prevalent for southern literary talent. The quaint stories of Joel Chandler Harris in folk-lore of the southern plantations, and the stories by him and by Thomas Nelson Page, Will Y. Harben, Harry Stillwell Edwards and others of those interesting phases of human character so plentiful in the south, are read with consuming interest and are seized upon by publishers with great avidity.

The literary flavor of the SUNNY SOUTH will be far above the ordinary story paper and an examination of one copy will show clearly and plainly to all its scope in its great special field. Some of the most prominent of the world's writers have been listed for special stories for the SUNNY SOUTH during the current year. It is a pleasure to know that the South has at last secured a literary paper of which the whole country is proud.

The SUNNY SOUTH's growing circulation throughout the Union, and in all parts of it alike is an indication of its widespread field. Its fresh, crisp editorials, social stories from authors of the widest note and growing fame and interesting short stories from every quarter make it acceptable everywhere. It is not a newspaper in any sense, but is devoted exclusively to the field of literature. It will come as a refreshing visitor every week to your home for only 50 cents per year. If you have never seen a copy of it send today for it on a postal card addressed to the SUNNY SOUTH, Atlanta, Ga., giving also the names of six of your neighbors and special friends who may also have this treat.

We are pleased to know that Southern enterprise places this paper in the hands of our people.

Mr. Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky.:

I purchased some of the Vitae-Ore of you in the latter part of March, and after taking about a half-pint of the Vitae-Ore Elixir my nerves were as steady as when I was 16 years of age, and I am now past 75. For more than a year I had been trying all the patent medicines and nostrums I could hear of to build myself up, but nothing did me any good until I used Vitae Ore, which my wife brought me from your house. After using it a week I went out and did three days' hard work as I have done in 25 years, and I was not more fatigued than it was 25 years ago over the same work. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I want everybody in the mountains to know what it did for me so they may try it. Hoping every one who has that tired feeling incident to old age will buy Vitae-Ore of you and give it a fair trial. I remain, thankfully yours for putting me on to this remedy.

JAMES LACY.

I can vouch for every word Mr. Lacy says in the above. I am his wife and bought the medicine of Mr. Cooper for him, though I did not have much faith in it, because we had tried so many things that did no good. I have also used Vitae Ore, and am stronger and in better health than for years, which I attribute to its use.
